

Glossary – Word of the day: "Defence-related product"

Defence-related products are the items on the EU Common Military List according to EU Directive 2009/43. Luxembourg includes into that definition some environmental modification techniques, as well as goods listed in the UN Register of Conventional Arms (Law of 27 June 2018, art. 22). A fourth category (goods which may be used for internal repressive purposes or the use of which poses a direct threat to public order or national or external security) is still empty, as no Grand Duke Regulation has until now added items to that list.
